

We are hiring!

We may be nearly 60 years old as a company, but this doesn't stop us from wanting to continue our growth and investment plans for the business. We are looking to strengthen the sales team with the addition of an external salesperson to cover the Northwest of England. We look forward to interest from ambitious motivated people who are seeking to forge a successful career with a top-class company. Please register your interest by contacting us on enquiries@johnmorfield.co.uk or message us via LinkedIn.

With offices in England, Scotland, and Ireland we are the UK & Ireland's largest independent filtration specialist company. Being at the forefront of filtration, we pride ourselves on our expertise in a wide range of activities. These include filtration consultancy, providing engineered solutions, the introduction of new technology and cost reduction improvements to our wide customer base. For a fast paced varied job role we could be the company for you.
